ONE DEATH AND 16 ILL IN TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

Helen R. Wolfe Passed Away in Hospital.—Eight New Cases.

THINK WORST IS OVER

One death — that of Helen Rebecca Wolfe—has occurred, and eight more victims of contaminated water have been admitted to the Bellefonte Hospital during the last week, making a total of 18 patients in the typhoid epidemic which has swept Collins Row and Coleville, Following are the 8 new patients: Thurman Davis, Clifford Davis, Catherine Rote, Charles Gettig and Clarence Young. Mrs. Anna Derstine, Nelson Grubb and Mrs. Mary Evoch. Miss Rote was but slightly afflicted, being taken to the hospital on Thursday, and discharged on Sunday.

Miss Wolfe was admitted to the hospital on May 6 and died at 1 A. M. May 14. Deceased was 20 years old. She was the daughter of Fletcher and Eva Rossman Wolfe, and was born at Coleville. In addition to her parents, she is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Clayton, and Mrs. Anna Derstine, of Coleville; Lester Wolfe, of Warren, and one half-brother, Edward Green, also of Coleville. Burial will be made on Saturday at 2 o'clock.

In their efforts to prevent further spread of the disease, authorities last week dynamited the two springs which were the sources of the infection. These water supplies were cut off, immediately upon the discovery of the contamination, and the cases which have developed since, must have been infected early in the period ef the epidemic.

HAND MANGLED IN MACHINE

William Keen Painfully Injured in Gear at Match Factory.

William Keen was the victim of a painful accident last Friday morning, at the match factory, when one of his hands was caught in a moving gear and terribly mangled.

Keen was attempting to oil a gear in the block conveyor without stopping the machinery. In some unknown manner his hand became caught, but with great presence of mind he managed to knock the drive belt off the pulley, thereby stopping the machinery, or his hand might have been completely torn off. He was hurried to the office of Dr. Dale, who removed him to the hospital, where an operation was found to be necessary. The third and fourth fingers of the hand were removed.

Illegal Fisherman Fined.

When the Keystone Power Corporation drained the race, which supplies part of the power at their Milesburg plant, last Friday morning, a glorious opportunity was afforded the "kiddies" and a lot of older folks to indulge in the illegal sport of "hand fishing," but just when things got started right, and about 50 men and boys were wading about in the mud, picking up fish, Game Protector Thomas Mosier happened along, and in the wild scramble which his appearance on the scene precipitated, he succeeded in capturing one man with a sucker in his hands. This man, Charles Lockard, was brought to Bellefonte and immediately arraigned before 'Squire Woodring, who imposed a fine of $20, which was paid without demur.

Academy Minstrel Seat Sale.

Secure your seats next Monday at Mott's Drug Store for the Academy minstrels. Their entertainment this year promises a rare treat. The dancing Carnival in the second part will surely be worth the price of admission. Little Huberta Bernherdt of Pittsburg will appear in three numbers. She is a wonder and will win the admiration of every one in the audience. Dances by young ladies and students will illustrate many types of attractive and amusing dancing. Don't forget the dates, Thursday and Friday May 22nd, and 23rd. The minstrel dance will take place in the Armory from 11-3 Friday evening, May 23rd.

Kiwanis Notes.

The first official picture of the Kiwanis club of Bellefonte was taken in front of the Court House at 2:30 this afternoon. The Kiwanians then piled into cars bearing banners with the caption "Bellefonte Kiwanis Club" and started to Philipsburg for the first inter-club meeting. The Kiwanis Club of Philipsburg is entertaining the Bellefonte club with a dinner at the Hotel Phillips. Tyrone Kiwanis were also invited, but are unable to attend.

MAY BUY TOLL ROADS

Testimony Regarding Need of Freeing Millheim Turnpikes.

Testimony relative to the importance of freeing two turnpikes at Millheim, by means of purchase by the county, was taken at a hearing in Bellefonte last Saturday, but no decision was reached in the matter. While the greater part of the day was devoted to the examination of petitioners and other witnesses, adjournment was made until early in June when at least another meeting will be necessary.

The two turnpikes in question, both owned by private companies, have tollgates, being the last toll roads in Centre County. One extends from Millheim to the railroad station at Coburn, and the other from Millheim to Brush valley. More than 400 residents of that section have petitioned that the two roads be purchased by the county. The County Commissioners and the road owners have been in negotiation for some time, but have been unable to get together on a mutually satisfactory price. The owners ask $7,000.00 for the road between Millheim and Coburn, a distance of about 2 miles, and $10,000.00 for that running from Millheim to Brush valley, about 5 miles. The County Commissioners consider these figures too high. Last Saturday's hearing was held with the Board of Road Viewers sitting as a jury, and Attorney John G. Love, master in the proceedings, presiding. The viewers were present as a preliminary step toward condemnation of the two roads and fixing values. It is optional with the County Commissioners whether they buy the two roads, or not. They will refuse to buy, unless the price finally submitted is satisfactory.

Shoots Hand Off.

Samuel Burris, residing on the Brockerhoff farm, about 2 miles east of town, had one of his hands so badly mangled by a charge of buck shot, that physicians were forced to amputate it, last Friday morning. Burris had been shooting crows with a shot gun and, upon going back to the house, immediately started to clean the gun, preparatory to putting it away and out of the reach of the children. He had no sooner sat down, when one of the hammers accidentally snapped on a shell in the chamber, the entire charge going into the man's hand with the results described above. He was rushed to the office of Dr. David Dale and thence to the hospital, where the operation was performed.

Donates Back Stop for Ball Games

"Cornie" Tate, well-known sanitary engineer and plumber, decided that Bellefonte ball tossers lost too much time and too many balls in chasing fouls that went over the fence at Hughes field. So last week "Cornie," who is one of the most enthusiastic fans in the community, put on his thinking cap and evolved a "creation wondrous to behold." It consists of a moveable back-stop, constructed of wire netting stretched over a framework of pipes, and will effectually stop foul balls from flying over the fence It will not only be used at the school games, but will be highly appreciated by the players as well as the fans at the "twilight" games this summer.

Peculiar Auto Accident.

On Monday evening, Jerry Owens, owner of a Nash touring car, had a spell of forgetfulness which culminated in the wreck of his car. When he started his car he was forced to crank it, the battery being played out, and forgot to remove the crank. Just as he rounded corner of Pine and Spring and started to go down the hill, the crank fell out. He immediately stopped the car with the foot brake and got out, forgetting to set the emergency brake. Naturally, the car started down the incline and wound up against the stone wall of the house owned by James McClure, which didn't hurt the wall a bit but certainly made a wreck of the front of the Nash.

Lights for Evening Drills.

Electric lights have been installed at the corral of the Troop B stables, with a view to having mounted drill in the evenings. This feature should prove successful in accelerating enlistments. It will also facilitate the mounted basketball practice, as this game is fast gaining popularity with the members of the troop.

Another Accident in Milesburg.

Another serious accident at the bridge over Bald Magle creek in Milesburg happened on Tuesday evening, when a Chevrolet coupe, owned by D. L. VanDine, of State College, crashed into the abutment at the north end of the bridge and was almost completely wrecked. As far as could be learned, none of the occupants of the car were seriously injured.

MINOR CASES TRIED

Court Paroles Young Man Who Pleaded Guilty to Larceny.

Four minor cases were disposed of by Judge Henry C. Quigley at a special session of court last Saturday morning.

The first was that of Luther Matthews, charged by H. W. Houtz, of Port Matilda, with the theft of about $113 worth of jewelry, $70 worth of which was recovered. Matthews pleaded guilty and was paroled to Ellis Pownell, to work on his farm for one year, for which he is to receive $10 per month, out of which he is to pay the costs of prosecution and reimburse Mr. Houtz for the lost jewelry.

The second case was that of Bert Parks, of Brown Row, who pleaded guilty to stealing a windshield from a Dodge car outside Decker Brothers' garage. Two windshields and a speedometer were also taken, but as no evidence was produced to show that Parks was guilty of the theft of more than one, he was sentenced on that charge alone. In view of the fact that he has worked steadily for the past four years and has shown an inclination for industriousness, the Court was inclined to clemency in the matter of a jail sentence and merely fined him $100 and costs, to be paid within a period of three months.

The remaining cases were very similar, being those of two Italians, Joe Dominick and Frank Balykonis, both of Edendale, and both charged with violation of the prohibition laws. There was no evidence to show that either had sold any liquor, the constable who made the arrest having failed to find anything but a quantity of mash and, at the house of Dominick, a still, They were fined $100 each and the costs of prosecution.

MEMORIAL DAY PLANS

G. A. R., Spanish-American and American Legion to Participate.

The G. A. R. divine memorial services will be held at the United Brethren church, Sunday, May 25, at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Hackett will deliver the sermon. In the afternoon, memorial services will be conducted at Myers and Shiloh cemeteries, at the former at 2 o'clock and the latter at 4. Gregg Post No. 95, G. A. R., will officiate at both ceremonies, assisted by Brooks Doll Post No 33, American Legion. The regular memorial program of the G. A. R. will be carried out under the leadership of Commander S. B. Miller, and Chaplain G. W. Emenhizer. The speakers will be J. Kennedy Johnston, J. B. Payne and John G. Love. The American Legion will furnish the firing squad, commanded by Sheriff Dick Taylor. Three volleys, fired over the graves of the veterans, will conclude each service. The G. A. R. will place flags on graves of Civil War veterans on Wednesday afternoon, May 28.

The memorial services of the Brooks-Doll Post, American Legion, will be held in the Episcopal church on Sunday, May 25. Rev. Mr. Maynard will deliver the sermon at 11 o'clock. All ex-service men are invited to be present, as Mr. Maynard's sermon will undoubtedly be well worth hearing.

The program for Memorial Day at the Union Cemetery has not been completely arranged, but efforts to secure Chaplin Frazer Metzger, of State College, as the principal speaker, are being made by the committee. Further details will be forthcoming in next week's paper.

Injured in Fall from Loft.

Miss Mabel Blauser, of Potters Mills, was admitted to the Bellefonte Hospital on Tuesday evening, suffering from severe injuries to her back and shoulder, sustained in a fall from the hay loft of the barn at her home.

CENTRE COUNTY BANK CASE PUT OFF UNTIL NOV. 10

Depositors Continue to Suffer Because of Legal Jockeying.

PEOPLE LOSING FAITH

The United States Supreme Court on Monday handed down another decision in the Centre County Bank case which, in effect, continues the entire matter until November 10th, next. At that time the Supreme Court will hear further argument, and still more delay will ensue before another decision is handed down.

Monday's decision by the Supreme Court related to three points:

The petition of the depositors committee to have three creditors intervene in the proceedings at this time was refused, without prejudice. The latter reference means that if the rules of the federal courts permit, then such intervention will be proper.

The petition by Geo. R. Meek, Mrs. Florence Dale and Andrew Breeze to throw out the entire case was refused.

The petition of George Shugert, administrator, to become a party to the proceedings, was approved.

November 10th was fixed to hear argument on the petition on the original question: Did or did not John M. Shugert, as a partner, have the power to declare other partners, as well as himself, bankrupts?

Exactly two years ago from Tuesday—May 13th, 1922—the Centre County Bank closed its doors. From that day down to the present time, legal jockeying has deprived depositors in the ill-fated bank from receiving a single penny of their money. And the end is not in sight. The depositors have no redress.

One delay after another in the bank case, made possible by legal technicalities, is an apt illustration of causes which have prompted many persons to loss all confidence in not only the law but the courts. The interests of a thousand or more depositors are vitally involved, and have been for two long years, but legal maneuvering and jockeying has continued, and gives promise of continuing indefinitely. In all the sparring for legal position the courts and others seemingly have little or no concern for the inconvenience and distress of the depositors. In the present instance, the Supreme Court will adjourn for a vacation extending over the entire summer. Centre County Bank depositors will have to continue to worry along as best they can.

What depositors would like to know is this: Why it is not possible to go ahead and clean up the bank mess, regardless of the question of Mr. Meek being or not being a partner, pay out to depositors what money is on hand, and determine the Meek feature later on? Countless other banks have failed, and have been cleaned up. Some have failed and been cleaned up even since the Centre County Bank went under. There is an underlying current of bitter resentment among scores of depositors. This is growing daily. It may reach a breaking point at any time.

REVIVING PONY EXPRESS

Novel Feature to Stimulate Interterest in Recruiting.

Thundering hoofs of the "pony express" will soon resound over the roads of central Pennsylvania. Reminiscent of the days of "Buffalo Bill" and the wild and woolly west, commanders of the various cavalry troops stationed throughout the central part of the State are organizing a "pony express" to start at Sunbury, and from there through Lewisburg, Williamsport, Lock Haven, Bellefonte, Boalsburg, Woodward, thence back through Lewisburg to Sunbury.

Sunbury to Lewisburg will be run by Troop E; Lewisburg to Williamsport, by 2nd. Squadron Headquarters Troop; Williamsport to Lock Haven, by Battery D; Lock Haven to Bellefonte, by Troop F; Bellefonte to Boalsburg, by Machine Gun Troop B; Boalsburg to Woodward, by Machine Gun Troop A; Woodward to Lewisburg, by Troop D; Lewisburg to Sunbury, by Troop E.

The date for this endurance race has not yet been set. Each of the courses will be from 25 to 28 miles long, except from Sunbury to Lewisburg, and from Bellefonte to Boalsburg. As far as can be learned, all troop commanders in the territory have given their approval and the contest is assured.

The purpose of this novel affair is to stimulate recruiting in the National Guard.

Throat Disorder Cause of Most Heart Disease

Any inflammation of the joints in children or young persons, especially if accompanied by fever, should be looked upon as a possible source of damage to the heart, and calls for rest in bed and treatment by the family physician. In children rheumatism shows itself not only in the form of rheumatic fever, but in other ways that are less easily recognized—especially as troublesome "growing pains" and as the nervous affection known as chorea, or St. Vitus' dance.

The conditions have the same dangerous possibilities of setting up inflammation of the heart valves as has inflammatory rheumatism itself and deserves the same careful treatment.

"In children who have had rheumatic symptoms of any sort, or who have signs of damage to the heart valves, infected tonsils and adenoids should be removed and scrupulous care should be given to the teeth and mouth," Dr. Lewis A Conner, professor of medicine at the Cornell university medical school, said in a recent radio lecture broadcast by the New York state department of health. "A better understanding on the part of parents, teachers and the general public of the important relation of throat infections and the various rheumatic manifestations of childhood to valvular heart disease would prevent many children from becoming subject to heart disease."—New York Times.

Prospective Bridegroom Afraid to Take a Chance

What with his little brown waxed mustache and all, Wilber Budd was a very hard catch, but at last Helen felt that she had him safely landed.

Leaning back against his broad shoulder, on a parlor sofa, she unburdened a sigh of relief.

"But, Helen, are you sure, if I marry you, that your father will give us a house of our own?" he said hesitatingly.

"Positive," she assured him.

"And do you think he will put me in all the best clubs in town?"

"Certainly, Wilber."

"And are you certain that he will provide us with money enough to live in the style to which I feel I ought to have been accustomed?"

"Absolutely, Wilber."

"And he will take me into the firm and let me put my name first on the letter heads?"

"He will, Wilber."

"And do you think he would let me give jazz parties here every week after we're married?"

"Of course, Wilber."

He made as though to kiss her, and then started to his feet.

"Good-by forever!" he cried, hoarsely. "Your father is too eager to get you off his hands."—Detroit Free Press.

Mice Answer Dinner Bell

White mice have been taught the meaning of the dinner bell. What is more, they have been able to transmit some sense of its significance to their offspring so that they may more easily be taught to jump for the table when the bell rings. The experiments are described in Science by Prof. Ivan P. Pawlow, the Russian physiologist.

The first generation of white mice required 300 lessons before they realized that the ringing of an electric bell meant that dinner was ready. After that they quickly trotted to the feeding place when they heard it tinkle.

Their young ones caught on to the trick after only 100 lessons, while their offspring in turn learned after only 30. The fifth generation had apparently so well inherited the tendency to "obey that impulse" that after only five trials they were ready and waiting.

Professor Pawlow hopes that future generations will know the meaning of an electric bell, just as surely as a new-born chick knows the meaning of a fragment of grain.

He Got a Lullaby

"Ever been arrested before?" asked a young lawyer who had been assigned to defend a prisoner without funds.

"Yes, sir. I been in jail twict fer grand larceny, onct fer trespass and ten times for vagrancy."

"Well, well! Life for you has not been a grand, sweet song."

"No, sir, but this time I got a lullaby."

Not One Squawk.

Bandit (threatening)—What would you say if I should cut off your head?

Scared Tourist—Not a word, not a word.

High Priced.

"I lost my money in that restaurant."

"Did you report it?"

"Yes, but they said it was their usual charge."

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO SIT ON AN ELEPHANT'S TRUNK?

A family of eleven, known as the Colleano Circus Stars in their native country of Australia, where the family name has been prominently identified with the circus for many years, recently arrived in New York direct from the London, England, Coliseum, where they have been a feature of the performance during the past year. The entire family was trained in the Colleano circus, an Australian institution of long standing. Each is an expert performer in from two to a dozen acts that constitute an Australian circus program. This famous family of artists came to America under contract with Manager Downie to appear as a feature on the program of the Walter L. Main Circus for the season of 1924. They will present a series of their most difficult sensational acts, using special equipment and costumes for each act, same as were used in the London Coliseum engagement. The Walter L. Main Circus will give its grand free street parade and two performances in Bellefonte, Monday, May 19, and the Colleano Family will appear at each performance.

The circus will arrive in Bellefonte Sunday morning, May 18, will be unloaded on arrival, and the city of tents will be up and all animals, horses, wagons and equipment in their respective tents early in the day. Three hundred and fifty people are fed in the Walter L. Main Circus cook tent at each meal. There are many interesting sights for the curiosity seeker on the circus grounds and the public is invited to feast their eyes Sunday while the show colony is taking its day of rest.

OVER THE COUNTY

The Millheim High School lost their baseball game with Centre Hall on Tuesday of last week by a score of 12 to 9.

Farmers over the county are about 4 weeks behind schedule in their planting and are now exerting every effort to make up for lost time.

The Gregg Township Vocational School was virtually snowed under in a baseball game with Centre Hall High School, last week, when they lost by a score of 13 to 2

J. D. Braucht, cashier of the Spring Mills National Bank, has handed in his resignation to that institution, and will accept a similar position with the bank at Coalport, on or about June 1.

One of the exhibit buildings at the Grange park, at Centre Hall, was destroyed by fire last week. The building contained an old carousel and some camp equipment, which belonged to the association.

Memorial services will be held in the Sprucetown cemetery, near Centre Hall, at 1:30 P. M., on Decoration Day. Lieutenant W. E. Montgomery, formerly of the 28th. Division, will be the principal speaker.

The Spyker stone quarry at Centre Hall was notified to stop shipments of stone to the various furnaces which they supplied. About 20 men, employed by the quarry, are thereby thrown out of work for an indefinite period.

The western regional group, comprising Rebersburg, Millheim, Centre Hall and Spring Mills, of the Lewisburg district of the Evangelical church, conference, will hold a convention in the Rebersburg church, on May 20, afternoon and evening. A very interesting program has been arranged.

The annual Sunday School convention of the twelfth district of Centre county, will be held in the Reformed church at Rebersburg, Friday, May 23.

No less than nine strange fishermen were registered at the National hotel at Millheim last week, but despite the fact that they whipped the streams in that vicinity industriously, no phenomenal catches were reported.

Edgar Miller, of near Tusseyville, began his new duties as assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Centre Hall, last week. He took the position vacated by Miss McWilliams, who resigned in order to make a home for her father.

There will be no graduating exercises at the Centre Hall High school this year. It happens that the class, which was formally graduated last year is, by the addition of another year to the High School course, the same class this year, and no exercises are deemed necessary.

Keystone Post, No. 444 American Legion, of Millheim, has received caps and badges for all of its members, together with 10 government rifles and ammunition, for firing squad purposes. This wide-awake bunch have also improved their club room in the municipal building by the addition of 10 over-stuffed rockers.

When returning from the home of his daughter, along the Earlytown road, John Breon, of Centre Hall, complained of feeling ill, and a little further on, suddenly collapsed from a paralytic stroke. He was taken to his home, and Dr. Longwell was summoned. Mr. Breon remained unconscious much of the time until Tuesday, when he recovered his speech, although his condition is still very serious.

TO OFFER WET PLANK

President Butler, of N. Y. University, to Insist on Showdown.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university and a delegate to the Republican national convention in Cleveland next month, has come out squarely for the insertion of an Anti-Prohibition plank in the 1924 platform.

His declaration that his party must take that step as "the only way to get back to sound constitutional government" is the latest phase of the nation-wide controversy he stirred up ten days ago when, in a speech before New York members of the Missouri society, he launched a vigorous attack on the Volstead act, the 18th amendment and liquor law enforcement generally.

The Columbia president in a statement added that the Republican party stood in danger of losing eleven states in the coming presidential election if it did not take a decisive stand against the existing prohibition situation. His remarks also were construed as a challenge to the Anti-Saloon League.

Declaring he had received assurance of support from governors of states and party leaders throughout the country, he added:

"They have called my attention to the danger to the party if it fails to satisfy public opinion or if it allows itself to be allied even in appearance with the activities of the Anti-Saloon League."

Should the Republican convention fail to take a platform stand against existing prohibition conditions, Dr. Butler said, it was threatened with the loss of Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Connecticut and Massachusetts.

"Pinafore" on Radio.

Central Pennsylvania radio enthusiasts have some special musical treats in store for next week from the station at the Pennsylvania State College. "Pinafore" the comic opera that was rendered so successfully at the college by student talent last week, will be reproduced especially for a radio audience Monday evening, May 19, beginning about 8:30 or 8:45, eastern standard time. On the following Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, T. H. Barritt, of Washington, well known baritone soloist, will give a two hour musical entertainment featured by cathedral chimes, vocal selections and instrumental offerings on a "musical saw," oboe, saxaphone and water glasses. He is a professional entertainer and has been heard from many of the larger stations in the country.

BIG MILITARY PAGEANT

Generals Muir and Hay to Attend 28th Div. Reunion at Boalsburg

Big military events are scheduled for Centre County residents on May 29 and on May 30, Memorial Day, particularly on the former date at State College. This period will witness a reunion of the 28th Division officers' club at Boalsburg and the presence of both General Charles S. Muir and General William H. Hay, former commanders of the 28th Division in activities in France.

Preliminary announcements from State College indicate that while there will be big doings there on March 30, with a parade in which the student military regiment will participate, just as big a time will be observed on the preceding day. On Thursday, May 29, the annual military review and field day will take place.

This event should offer an unusual attraction for residents all over the county, as it is something relatively new at the college. There will be all kinds of stunts in which the students in the regiment will participate, beginning at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. They will be events such as regular army men engage in during their big field day events.

General Muir, now in command of the Third Corps Area R. O. T. C., with headquarters in Baltimore, will be the reviewing officer of the day and the entire student regiment and band will be at its best for the occasion. Colonel Theodore D. Boal was an aide to General Muir overseas. General Hay, who will be remembered as commandant of cadets at Penn State about 12 years ago, will present silver cups at the review to the best drilled company and to the best company rifle team. The events will be held on the East Campus and there will be no admission charge.

FARM ACCOUNTS

Ten Centre County Farmers Find Keeping Books Profitable.

Under the present conditions of farming, according to R. C. Blaney, County Agent, many crops are produced on a very small margin of profit and many with no profit at all. Farming is a business and must be managed as such; this necessitates a complete system of farm accounts.

Last year 10 farmers in Centre County secured farm account books through the Farm Bureau office. The men that kept these books up to date learned that it was time well spent and they found out the that were paying and those that were crops not.

By this system of accounting in Lancaster County last year some startling conclusions were drawn. The following figures were taken from 82 farms. Wheat gave a return of 13¢ per hour of man labor, being the lowest of all crops reported. Atfalfa 36 1¢, corn 36 4¢, potatoes 36.2¢ and hay 34.3¢ per hour of man labor.

Farmers should put more thought and time to the business side of their farming activities and know where each dollar goes and where it will bring the biggest returns.

An account book has been drawn up by the Agri. Economic department of State College which can be kept with a small amount of time. These books can be secured any time at the Farm Bureau office.

Milton to Race at Altoona.

Tommy Milton, holder of more speed records than any man in the world, has entered for the international 250-mile classic at Altoona on the famous mile-and-a-quarter board bowl, Saturday, June 14. His entry brings racing interest to the highest pitch in years as it will mean one of the most sensational duels in the annals of the sport. The speed duel will be between Milton and Jimmie Murphy, champion of the racing world in 1922, who entered for the big Altoona event last week. Murphy was absent in Europe last September when the Altoona speedway at its opening won fame as the world's fastest track. Milton, who holds the world's record speed of 156.4 miles an hour in his famous race against time at Daytona Beach, finished "in the money" last year at Altoona's first race, even though he was out for almost an hour with serious engine trouble, returning to the bowl with such speed that he skidded across almost every turn in his dash to cross the line before the last car was given the checkered flag.

Killed by Fall From Horse.

Clarence William Probst, bugler in Troop F, 103rd Pennsylvania Cavalry, at Lock Haven, was fatally injured last week when he was thrown from a troop horse near the Lockport bridge. He suffered a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain. In company with Nelson Miller, Probst, who was 22 years of age on March 18, had gone out to exercise their horses. They were returning to the troop stables when the accident occurred. Miller was a block ahead of Probst and did not see the accident. When the riderless horse appeared at the stables comrades surmised that an accident had occurred and started out to search for Probst, but in the meantime the driver of a passing truck found him. He died a few minutes after being removed to the hospital.

New Ruling for Schools.

Directors of school districts do not have the right to excuse pupils, between the ages of 8 and 16 years, during legal school hours for the purpose of attending denominational schools to receive religious instruction, J. W. Brown, deputy attorney general, held in an opinion to Dr. J. George Becht, superintendent of public instruction at Harrisburg made public last Friday.

New Mexico Boasts Four Stages of Civilization

Four stages of civilization have existed in New Mexico. The present or American; back of this the Spanish, which came with the Spaniards in 1540. When they came they found the civilization of the Pueblo Indian, with at least seventy villages, cultivated fields and extensive irrigation. Coexistent with them were a prehistoric race, living in well-built cities, with houses of stone, some of them four stories high, and they were cultivating irrigated fields. Their ditches and irrigated works were as well laid out as if run by modern engineers. They have entirely disappeared and we know only that they were here for an unknown period, beginning at least 1,000 years ago.

All that remains are the mighty ruins, some are in cities down on the plains and others are cliff dwellings, where houses are built on the cliffs, and some were cave dwellings. One building at Pueblo Bonlao, which is one of the earliest apartment houses, had four stories and covered a greater area than the capitol at Washington.

Today, remarks Adventure magazine, the traveler can see at one time the nomadic Indian, the pueblo dweller, the Spanish occupation and the present Anglo-American development.

Middle Ages Heroine Had Practical Mind

One of several fortresses formerly owned by Lord Castletown's ancestors is Morett castle, now a ruin, but at one time a place of immense strength. Concerning this his lordship tells a grim story in his book, "Ego." The castle was besieged by the Irish, and the owner was unluckily captured in a sortie. He was brought up by his captors outside the walls and a parley demanded. His wife came on the battlements, and the enemy herald announced that unless the fortress was surrendered within an hour her husband would be hanged. "Give me time to think it over," requested the lady. "One hour," said the Irish. "One hour will do," replied the lady. At the appointed time both sides returned, the lady on the battlements, the prisoner with a cord round his neck and surrounded by his guard. "I have decided," she said. "I can always get another husband, but never another Morett. You can hang your prisoner." Which they promptly did.

First Divorce Court

The first divorce court in England was instituted in 1858. The court consisted of three judges. At the first sitting five marriages were dissolved, and in the first year of the court's operation 38 divorces were granted out of 288 petitions. From the time of the Reformation up to 1858 there had been but 317 divorces in England, granted by acts of parliament. Until the passing of the divorce act in 1858 the theory in English law regarding divorce was the same as that of the Roman Catholic church, although in practice this rule was not strictly adhered to, and wealthy and influential persons, through parliament, secured freedom from galling ties. The divorce act provided that the wronged husband could be released from his obligation to an unfaithful wife, but gave no such recourse to an injured wife, unless the husband's offense in this direction was aggravated by other offenses.

Forethought

The small boy entered the shoemaker's shop, and, unwrapping a small parcel, produced a size 11 shoe, very much the worse for wear.

The shoemaker took it from him, and, after looking at it, asked:

"Well, what do you want me to do with this? It doesn't want mending, does it?"

"Yes," said the boy: "that's father's slipper, and there's a nail sticking up in it. I want you to put it right before he notices it."

"You're a kind little boy," said the old man, beaming. "You must be fond of your father."

"'Tain't that quite," replied the small boy calmly. "You see, the nail's sticking right through the sole, and this is the slipper father spanks me with."

Odd Materials Used by Birds to Build Nests

When the material which a bird ordinarily uses for building its nest is lacking it will adapt anything handy to its purpose, with results that are sometimes distinctly odd. Some years ago a telephone subscriber at Simla, India, ringing up for a required number, was answered from four different offices at once.

What had happened was this: a crow had built its nest at the central office, where four wires converged, and used the clippings and bits of wire for the purpose, with the result that it established complete electrical communication between all four lines.

Equally odd was the performance of a cormorant. It may be remembered that some years ago H. M. S. Sybille was wrecked off Lambert's bay on the southwest coast of Africa. A party of ship's officers went to visit the wreck in the following spring, and found that in the lookout on the masthead a cormorant had built a nest in which were five eggs. The nest was made of odds and ends of steel wire and rope from the rigging of the wreck, and was lined with seaweed. Nest and eggs were taken, and are now in a museum.

Art of Diamond Cutting Originated in France

The art of diamond cutting dates from the end of the Fifteenth century. Formerly diamonds were set in their natural state, after having been cleaned, or else were cut in a very rude and imperfect manner. But in 1546 a young gentleman of Bruges, named Louis van Berghem, by rubbing a couple of diamonds together, observed that they attrited and polished their surfaces reciprocally, and that the artificial facets thus formed acquired an extraordinary splendor. This observation was the starting point of the diamond cutting and polishing industry, which was almost exclusively localized in Amsterdam, the Detroit News remarks.

It is recorded that Berghem made the first trial of his improved mode of cutting in 1575 on three large rough stones which were confided to his care by Charles the Bold, duke of Burgundy. The new industry was greatly encouraged by Cardinal Mazarin, who caused the diamonds in the French crown to be recut, whence they obtained the name of the twelve Mazarins.

Mummies Don't Last

Many persons are curious to know what a mummy looks like after it is unwrapped. Recently at the Cleveland Museum of Art a mummy case which had been on exhibition since 1914 was opened and the numerous bandages covering the remains were unwound. Nothing was found inside but a skeleton and some cheap blue porcelain beads that had evidently once formed a string. Not only the flesh had disappeared but time had disjointed the bones. There was a strong odor of balsam. The mummy was that of Senbi, a king's scribe, who died in the Twelfth Egyptian dynasty, some four thousand years ago. It was found in Egypt. Senbi was of mixed Egyptian and Asiatic blood and died about the age of thirty-five.

African "Conjuring"

On the west coast of Africa natives of the "bush" claim to have two souls. One animates the person's human body, the other takes on the "were (wer) shape," by means of a magic draft handed down through the ages. In that land evil spirits lurk in the rocks, trees and the rivers. Here the Goddess Nimm (great oval-shaped rock in a river) keeps her vigil and doles out revenge or help to the supplicant at her shrine. Sixty per cent of the deaths in West Africa are believed to be due to witchcraft or sorcery. From these ancestors our southern negro inherits his belief in the power of the voodoo, and his "conjuring" practices are a direct throwback to the "bush" folk.—New York Times.

Coming Back to Take Her West

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(©, 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

ALL the way in the train Hall had been dreaming of Isobel. He had been eight years in the West, and all that while she had been waiting for him. A record in love!

Pretty, sensitive little Isobel! Hall could see her, as she had been when she said good-by to him at the garden gate, with her fair hair flying about her ears and her blue eyes suffused with tears! How desperately they had been in love with each other! How ardent their letters had been! And now he was a rich man, coming back to take her West.

He got off the train and fairly ran up the hill, conscious how much more lightly he used to ascend it in the days when he was a slender youth. Isobel's cottage was at the very top of the hill. She had said that she would meet him at the gate again. And there she was! In a moment he had run to her and they were clasped in each other's arms.

It was not until the first fervor of their kisses had subsided that he found time to look at her closely. Yes, this was Isobel, but—where were the fairy movements, the sylph-like proportions of old? This was Isobel—only she had grown into a plump woman, no longer girlish.

"Darling, are you sure you love me the same as ever?" she asked, pouting.

"Absolutely sure, sweetheart," responded Hall, with a dreadful sinking at the heart. Somehow it had never occurred to him that Isobel could possibly change. All the romance of his dreams seemed shattered.

Hall was most cordially welcomed by Isobel's mother, and the happy couple were soon surrounded by a crowd of congratulatory neighbors.

"It's positively the most romantic thing I've ever heard of," said Mrs. Singleton, the bride's mother's stepsister. "When you went away, Charlie, nobody dreamed you'd be true to each other so long."

"And Charlie's a millionaire—aren't you, Charlie?"

"Well, almost," smiled Hall, thinking of his silver mine.

"It's just like a story book," said youthful Miss Prim (aged fifty-two).

But was it? Hall could only be conscious of Isobel's increased girth. He took her on his knee once, but he gave that up. You can't take stout women on your knee.

And then Isobel's ways were no longer juvenile. Altogether, although much of the old charm remained, Hall was a disillusioned man, and for that reason he was the more eager for the marriage, so that the inevitable would have happened.

You understand, he still cared a great deal for Isobel, only the d—n romance had gone out of the thing.

At last they were married, and the blushing bride and bewildered bridegroom were safely on board the train, picking the rice off their clothes. They had a drawing-room on their way West, so they were quite alone.

Isobel looked at Hall with that look of sudden terror that the new-made bride experiences when she finds herself alone for the first time with the man of her choice.

"Darling, it is romantic, isn't it!" she whispered, as she snuggled up to him.

"Awfully," said Hall, feeling happy, but at the same time embarrassed.

"Darling, will you be very angry with me if I confide to you a secret of my heart?"

"Why, no, Isobel."

"Well, when I first—only when I first saw you coming to the gate, darling, I had such a hideous sinking feeling. I was afraid things were not going to be as they had been."

"But why, Isobel?"

"You had grown so stout and puffy, darling, and you had a kind of middle-aged look. But it was only just for a moment, and then, when you took me in your arms, I saw your bald spot. But that was only just for a moment, too, and then I found out that you were the same dear old Charlie whom I had always loved. Are you very angry, darling?"

"Why, no, Isobel. The tiniest bit in the world hurt, perhaps, but nothing to speak of," answered Hall. "You see, darling, you and I have each other to love for ever, and we don't have to worry about anything, do we, Isobel?"

"No," sighed Isobel, snuggling up again and burying her face in Hall's plump bosom.

Tracing Surnames

Surnames offer a most convenient method of recalling forgotten trades. Who would guess that Thacker or Thackeray was the man who thatched the roof with straw; that Tyler was the one who tiled it, or Slater, he who roofed with slate? A few other names, as Collier, the charcoal burner; Chandler, the candle maker, and Fuller, the cloth cleaner, will show how numerous were the ancient crafts. Blacksmith has no equivalent among English names, unless it be the abbreviated Smith, though in German there is Klingensmith, the "clanging smith." But the horseshoer was a Farrier, dropped in our dictionaries but retained in the directories.

ALTOONA

Booster Stores' Dollar Day

Correspondence

Pine Grove Mills.

The showery weather has brought farming to a standstill.

Walter O'Bryan and H. C. Dale, of State College, were within our gates on Sunday morning.

Miss Catherine Hollbrook, of State College, was an over-Sunday visitor with her girl friend, E. V. Dale, on the Branch.

Forest McGirk, of Altoona, was greeting old friends in the valley on Sunday and visited Aunt Anna Dale at the Bellefonte hospital. The latter is convalescing nicely.

Ed Weaver recently invested in a new loom and is making the shuttle fly on carpets and fancy rugs.

Owing to the continued wet weather, but little oats has been planted and there is still much plowing to be done. Looks like lots of corn to be planted in June.

H. F. McGirk, recently returned from a year's stay in the south-land, is visiting with relatives in Blair County.

The Goheen sisters are nicely located in their new bungalow at Rock Springs. It will be recalled that their home was destroyed by fire last October. The bungalow is located on the old site.

Ground has been broken for three new homes on South Church Street, to be completed before the snow flakes fly.

House-cleaning and soap-making seem to be the order of the day with the ladies. Next will be "swat the fly."

Miss Maude Miller, one of our successful school marms, has gone to Chester where she has accepted a position as a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Dale, with their interesting boys, Jack and Charles, motored up from Bellefonte last Friday. Mrs. Dale and the boys called on old friends, while H. L. looked after some automobile business he had up his sleeve.

Capt. J. O. Campbell Post, No. 272, G. A. R., of Pine Grove Mills, have planned to honor the heroic dead on Memorial Day, May 30th. The parade will form at the I. O. O. F. hall at 2 o'clock. G. A. R. members, civic organizations, school children carrying flowers to be strewn on graves, will be in line. All old soldiers who donned the Blue from 1861 to 1865 are cordially invited to join the ranks, whether members of the G. A. R. or not. Spanish-American and World War veterans are to join our ranks which are rapidly becoming depleted. Major S. D. Gettig will be the orator of the day. Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick will deliver the address at Pine Hall at 6 o'clock. Meek's cemetery, Rock Springs, Fairbrook and the Branch will be visited and decorated by details. Services at Penna. Furnace cemetery at 9 A. M.; at Graysville at 10.45. Speakers have not been announced. Flowers will be thankfully received by the committee on decoration: J. W. Sunday, Chas. Smith and C. H. Martz. The annual G. A. R. memorial sermon will be preached by Rev. J. E. English in the Lutheran church, Pine Grove Mills, Sunday, May 25th, at 10:30 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

Port Matilda

The track meet at State College on Saturday was well attended by High School students and residents of this section. Eight car owners, L. Y. Greene, J. S. Williams, A. G. Williams, Kenneth Woodring, Harold Crain, Paul Kelley, L. Ross and Lem Rease each took 5 passengers and drove to the College.

The DeMoss family gave a very fine entertainment in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening. The attendance was exceptionally good, every seat in the church being filled.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woodring motored to Huntingdon on Monday to examine a house which they expect to occupy in the near future. Mr. Woodring is now in the automobile business at Mount Union.

The intermediate and primary schools on Monday held their closing exercises which were very poorly attended by the parents. This is a feature of school business which every parent should show interest in by making a special effort to attend, as it gives encouragement to pupil and teacher alike.

A. J. Johnson, who is employed as a carpenter by the P. R. R., spent Sunday with his family.

Linzy Ross and wife, who have been teaching school in Snow Shoe during the past winter, have returned to Mrs. Ross' parents for the summer.

About 25 members of the local I. O. O. F. motored to Tyrone on Monday evening to attend a rehearsal. They had a thoroughly enjoyable time while there, but the roads were in such bad condition that they were forced to return by way of WarriorsMark.

Miles J. Nearhoof Dead.

Miles J. Nearhoof died at the home of his son, Jesse, at Bellwood, last Thursday, of complications. He was born at WarriorsMark in 1850 and left there 37 years ago to reside at Antis, until the death of his wife about 8 years ago, when he removed to Bellwood. He is survived by another son, L. Roy Neerhoof, of Antis, and a brother, Levi, of WarriorsMark. Interment was made in Antis cemetery on Sunday afternoon.

Boalsburg.

Don't Read This.

Here's some news that will be of exceptional interest to every thrifty inhabitant of Bellefonte. The mere announcement that Altoona Booster Stores will stage their regular quarterly Dollar Day makes shrewd housewives and husbands plan days ahead to be in Altoona for these greatest of all merchandising events.

Next Wednesday—May 21st—in Altoona Booster Stores.

Every Booster Dollar Day grows and grows, and gets bigger and bigger in the number of people who take advantage of them and of the real bargains that are to be had at this popular price—ONE DOLLAR.

And the Dollar Price is not alone. Jewelers, Milliners, Furniture Dealers, Shoe Stores and Men's Outfitters, while featuring thousands of Dollar items, also make special prices on higher priced goods that will make your visit really worth while.

Extra salespeople have been secured for your better service, so come early in the morning before the real values have been exhausted.

Community Rest Room on Fifteenth street, in Christ Reformed church, was created for your comfort. Nothing for sale—just a place to eat a lunch and relax after a tiresome journey through the stores.

Tell your neighbor you expect to go and have them come with you. Good places to eat and the movies have the best first-run films in Central Pennsylvania.

Next Wednesday. But, be sure you buy in a Booster Store. These stores alone display the "Official Dollar Day Store" card, signifying that your purchase is guaranteed by the merchant and by the Altoona Booster Association.

William B. Treaster Dead.

William B. Treaster, of Huston, died at his home on Monday from complications. Deceased was the son of Daniel and Mary Brown Treaster and was aged 64 years, 7 months and 8 days. SIX DIE ON GALLOWS

Murderers Marched in Pairs to Scaffold in Louisiana Town.

Roy Leona and Joseph Giglio, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Joseph Bocchio and Andrea Lamantina, Chicago, and Natale Deamore and Joseph Rini, New Orleans, were hanged at the Tanhipahoa Parish jail at Amite, in Louisiana, last Friday, for the murder 3 years ago, of Dallas Calmes, when Calmes frustrated an attempt to rob a bank.

The death march began at 11:55 o'clock. An hour and a half was required to put the men to death, inasmuch as the law required each man to hang 20 minutes after the trap falls even though he might die instantly of a broken neck.

The condemned men went to their deaths in alphabetical order in pairs on the double gallows.

Rattlesnake on Radio.

The rattle of a caged rattlesnake was broadcast successfully last week from the radio station at the Pennsylvania State College. "Kelly," the pet rattler of Professor G. R. Green, of the college nature study staff, came up to all expectations as a radio "artist." He featured a talk on "Snakes" given by Green, and his rattle was long and loud enough to be heard over the air waves at distant points. Green has had the snake in his collection for some time, it having been captured in the summer of 1822 by Miss Mayme Kelly, of Pittsburgh, a summer session student. This was the first time a rattlesnake has been a radio broadcaster.

Give pleasure. Lose no chance in giving pleasure. For that is the ceaseless and anonymous triumph of a truly loving spirit.

WHAT TO EAT

"What is one man's food is another man's poison." Each individual has desires peculiar to himself, and yet training has a large part in making the appetite a normal one. Cereal is energy to one and a soggy, indigestible mass to another. Grapefruit is an appetizing, refreshing fruit, but some find it hard to digest. Coffee, the fragrant, exhilarating cup, a joy to many, is blamed for much of which it is innocent.

Food value is vastly important, but a well-served, dainty meal will send a person from the table happy and satisfied, in better condition to meet the day's work, than a well-balanced meal, scrambled and served with discord.

A well-served, successful meal must begin the day before, either in thought and plan or in actual preparation.

Buckwheat Griddle Cakes.—Take a yeast cake, soften it in one-quarter of a cupful of lukewarm water; add a little salt and enough buckwheat flour and water to make a thick batter. Beat well to thoroughly incorporate the yeast, and set away in a cool place until night. Set to rise at night in a warm place until morning. In the morning reserve one cupful of the mixture to start the cakes for the next morning, proceeding just as if the yeast had been added. To the batter to be used for the morning's cakes add soda and sour milk to make a thin griddle cake batter, more salt, if needed, and cook on a hot griddle. Serve these cakes with a little sausage, bacon or broiled ham, a cupful of good coffee and, if the digestion can stand it, a doughnut, which will make a good meal.

Curried Eggs.—For those who enjoy the curry flavor, this is a good dish: Cook six eggs in the shell until hard and cut into halves. Fry a teaspoonful of onion in a tablespoonful of butter; add one tablespoonful of cornstarch and two of flour, mixed with half a tablespoonful of curry powder. Pour over this, slowly, one and one-half cupfuls of stock, cream or milk, with a little salt for seasoning. Simmer until the onions are soft, then add the eggs and serve very hot on toast.

Kind words do not cost much. They never blister the tongue or lips. We never heard of any mental trouble arising from this quarter. Though they do not cost much, yet they accomplish much. They make other people good natured. They produce their own image on men's souls and a beautiful image it is.—Pascal.

DEAR OLD-FASHIONED DISHES

How very seldom do we see in this day the crisp and dainty crullers that our grandmothers knew so well how to make. They are often made of the same recipe as doughnuts. Rolled out twice as thick as pastry, cut into oblongs with three or four slits cut nearly through to the edge with a sharp knife, they look like an old-fashioned barred gate before they are fried. Some cooks twist the strips before they are dropped into the hot fat, which gives them an especially attractive appearance.

Crullers.—Take one cupful of sugar, two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of sweet milk, a teaspoonful of cream of tartar, one-half teaspoonful of soda, some grated nutmeg and a little salt. Cream the butter, add the sugar and, when well-mixed, the yolks of the eggs, well-beaten, then a little of the milk with the flour sifted with the dry ingredients, and fold in the stiffly-beaten whites. Use just as little flour as possible to roll. Chill on ice before rolling and the cakes may be handled very soft.

Dumplings.—Delicious, tender, fluffy dumplings may be prepared thus: Beat one egg, add one cupful of sweet buttermilk, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-half teaspoonful of salt, sifted with one and one-half cupfuls of flour, just making a drop batter; the thickness of the buttermilk and the size of the eggs will modify the state of the butter. Drop from a teaspoon on top of a kettle of meat with plenty of bones to hold up the dumplings. Drop quickly, cover closely and do not lift the lid for eight minutes, when they will be ready to serve. Be sure that the stew is boiling when dropping in the dumplings.

Baked Apples.—Core apples and stew in a little water until nearly tender; pour round maple sirup and fill the centers with raisins. Place in the oven and bake until soft. Serve with cream and sugar when cold.

JUST FUN

SHOULD SAY HE WAS!

She was a dainty young thing, dressed in the latest fashion, and as she tripped into the room the office boy gasped, then grinned as she came to a standstill before him.

"Could you tell me if Mr. Jenkins is in?" she asked.

The boy nodded and pointed vaguely over his shoulder at the open door.

The girl hesitated for a moment.

"Do you know if he is engaged?" she inquired.

The boy looked astonished.

"Engaged?" he almost shouted. "Engaged! Why, he's married and got two kids!"

WHAT HE TOOK

Prosecutor—Did you see him take his departure?

Witness—Ah neber seen him take nothin', sah, but his valise.

The Lost Light.

Sweetheart, the wintry skies are cold and gray—
From all life loved apart,
The lost, dear lights makes desolate the day,
Sweetheart! Sweetheart! Sweetheart!

Knew the Color, Anyway.

"Look here," said the landlord to his tenant, who was two months behind in his rent, "when am I going to see the color of your money?"

"I can't exactly say when you're going to see it," replied the tenant, "but I can tell you about it. The color just now is invisible green."

In Those Olden Days.

Weary Walkins (reading news scrap)—Dey just found one uv dem mummies down in Egypt, and it's 5,000 years old.

Snuffy Sam (yawning)—Yep, dem people sure got good an' ol' in dem days.

Of Necessity.

"Do you think airships will ever come into popular use?"

"Most assuredly. If they keep on flooding the land with motor cars a lot of us will have to take to the air."

OPENING TO A HOLE

"That was a fine opening offered you last week—did you take it?"

"I did—and went in the hole."

Self-Judgment.

I ask of love no promises;
The heart that beats for me
Will serve no other lady fair,
Wherever it may be.

All of That.

"That halfback is playing a wonderful game—that's the third field goal he's kicked."

"Yes—he's certainly putting his best foot forward."—Life.

Not Yet.

He—Oh, do hurry up, Angela! Haven't you done your hair up by this time?

Angela (from within)—Done it? I haven't found it yet!

THE GREATER CRIME

Mr. Thurston—Are you pinching me just because I put a little yeast in my homemade cider?

The Blue Law Officer—Certainly not. I am arresting you for allowing the yeast to work on Sunday.

Pursuit.

Each morning I go forth to find
A rapture running down the wind;
It is a fleet, elusive thing
With all the ardor of the spring.

Easy.

"Pa, what is capital?"

"The money the other fellow has, my son."

Strong Bank-Note Paper

The secret of making the linen tissue for Bank of England notes has been kept for 200 years by the trusted employees of one firm. Of a peculiar whiteness, the paper is so tough that a folded note can sustain the weight of 50 pounds without tearing. In the days before postal orders became common, it was customary, when sending money by mail, to cut a note in halves, inclose the first with the invoice and await acknowledgment before parting with the second.—Popular Mechanics.

Origin of White Feather

The phrase "showing the white feather" is derived from the cockpit. It arose, says one authority, from the belief of certain patrons of the cockpit that birds having a white weather in their wings were apt to show cowardice in fight. Many such phrases are incorporated in the English language from the same source, such as "to turn tail," "to stand steel," "cock of the walk," "to die game"—to enlist none other of the 50 or 60 such words. —Washington Star.

Carbide

Carbide consists of compounds of carbon and the metals or certain of the metalloids. The name carbides is also applied to compounds of carbon with certain nonmetallic elements such as silicon. The carbide of silicon is a crystalline substance remarkable for its great hardness, and used under the name of carborundum for making whetstones, polishing cloths, etc. The carbides of nonmetallic elements are not attacked by acids.

Black Hole of Calcutta

The "Black Hole of Calcutta" was an apartment in which 156 English prisoners, captured by the Nawab siraj-ud-Daula, were confined over night of June 20, 1756. This apartment was 18 feet by 14 feet and 10 inches. It had only two small windows, obstructed by a veranda. The crush was dreadful, and after a night of terrible suffering from pressure, heat, thirst and want of air, there were left alive in the morning only 23 survivors.

First to Tattoo Bodies

The South Sea Islanders were the first people to tattoo their bodies. There is a superstition among sailors and men of the sea that animals tattooed on their bodies ward off the evil spirits of the sea. A pig, for instance, on the left instep, was supposed to keep the wearer from drowning.

Latest in Stethoscopes

An instrument has been developed known as a microphone stethoscope, to test the heart action of a person. Beats of the heart can be plainly heard at a distance of 50 feet, and by means of a strong amplifier it is possible to broadcast heart beats by radio.

Some Pearls Valueless

The pearls to be found in edible oysters are of no commercial value on account of their chalky composition which makes it impossible to give them a polish.

Second Guest—Transport.

First Guest—Transport?

Second Guest—Yes, I'm the owner of an express and van company.

Precaution.

"Gimme just two quarts of gas," said Mr. Chuggins.

"Only two quarts!" exclaimed the man at the pump.

"Yes. My wife is learning to run the flivver, and I want to make sure that if it gets away from her it'll stop pretty soon of its own accord."

Betrothed as Babies

For centuries past it has been the custom in China for the parents of a baby girl to betroth her, in infancy, to the youthful son of a friendly couple, and there have been numerous cases in which the girl has not seen her husband-to-be until she arrived at the home of his parents for the marriage ceremony. The match was a question solely for the respective parents and the young couple were not consulted. Western civilization, however, is encroaching on China, and the fact that the old order is changing is proved by four advertisements inserted in the vernacular Press of Peking recently, by which young women have given notice to the world that they decline to recognize the betrothals arranged for them in their infancies, and that they reserve for themselves the right to select their life partners.

All That Remains.

Our laws are quite enough, we vow,
For matters great and small.
We only need the talent now
That can police them all.

He Couldn't Tell Which.

Father—What's your mother doing?

Walter (who has just come downstairs)—She's either dressing for a party or going to bed.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

For a nice dinner which may be spread over several days the following meat will be found economical:

Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb.—Have the bones taken out neatly and fill the cavity left with stuffing made of bread crumbs, raw oysters, using a cupful of crumbs and a dozen oysters, chopped fine, a tablespoonful of melted butter, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley and the same of onion juice. Season well with salt and pepper. Skewer the stuffing within the meat carefully and roast in a covered pan. Prepare the gravy by adding a tablespoonful of melted butter to one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, the same of onion juice and kitchen bouquet. Baste the meat liberally with this sauce before taking it from the oven, then let stand in the oven five minutes longer. Serve on a hot platter garnished with fried potatoes. Serve with sauce in a gravy boat.

Pea Pancakes.—Drain the liquid from a can of peas and rub them through a sieve or colander and mash to a paste with butter. Season well and add two well-beaten eggs, one cupful of milk and just enough flour to make of the right consistency for griddle cakes. Fry on a hot griddle.

If the family likes kidneys this will be enjoyed:

Kidneys Sauted.—Split each kidney, wash, trim off all fat and cut into quarters. Melt three tablespoonfuls of butter in a frying pan; sprinkle the kidneys with salt and pepper, roll in flour and fry in hot butter. Turn often while they are cooking. When they are a nice brown place on a hot platter and pour round the fat after seasoning it with catsup, onion juice and a dash of jelly, all boiled up once before serving.

Oyster Omelet.—Chop a dozen oysters. Make a sauce of a tablespoonful each of flour and butter; add three tablespoonfuls of cream, a pinch of soda and the same amount of liquor, strained. Season well; add the oysters and bring to the boiling point. Cook the omelet, cover with the oyster sauce and serve hot.

GOOD THINGS FOR OCCASIONS

A salad is always a welcome dish and the following dressing will be enjoyed on lettuce:

Russian Dressing.—Beat one-half cupful of French dressing, using six tablespoonfuls of oil with two of vinegar. Salt, paprika to taste. Add gradually this dressing into a half-cupful of mayonnaise, beating with an egg beater; then add two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce and fold in one-third of a cupful of cream, whipped. Season well with chopped green and red pepper, onion juice, parsley and chopped cucumber pickle.

Apricot Sponge.—Soften one tablespoonful of gelatin in one-quarter of a cupful of cold water, then add one cupful of apricot pulp and juice, heated hot; add one-quarter cupful of sugar; stir until the mixture thickens, then fold in the whites of two eggs, stiffly beaten. Serve with whipped cream. Prunes are good used in the place of apricots.

Cheese and Chicken Dish.—Rub the yolk of one hard-cooked egg to a paste with a tablespoonful of olive oil or butter. Add one teaspoonful of salt, one of made mustard, one of granulated sugar and one-quarter teaspoonful of cayenne. Mix with two cupfuls of grated cheese and one cupful of chopped chicken. Press into scallop shells or ramekins and bake just long enough to become hot and the cheese melted.

Made Mustard.—Into four tablespoonfuls of dry mustard beat one tablespoonful of salad oil. Mix well, adding enough vinegar to make a smooth paste, then add a teaspoonful each of white pepper, onion juice and sugar. Beat hard and long to mix well, then bottle. This mustard equals the best mustards in the market, at very little cost.

Another Salad.—Take one cupful each of cooked peas, peanuts finely minced and one-half cupful finely minced good-flavored pickles and the same of chopped ripe olives. Add a good well-seasoned boiled dressing, mix well and serve on lettuce.

EXAGGERATED

Two men were walking along the beach at Brighton when one of them accidentally stumbled against a child's pail.

"My dear friend," exclaimed the other, "I cannot tell how much I lament your sad death."

"Whatever do you mean—my death?"

"You have just kicked the bucket," replied the first, with a laugh.

"On the contraary," said the other, "I just turned a little pail."

Imperative.

"What's the matter, old boy?" asked Jimmie's friend. "I've never seen you looking so seedy."

"I've got to go abroad at once," remarked Jimmie, gloomily."

"Nonsense! These doctors musn't frighten you out of your life like that."

"It wasn't a doctor. It was a lawyer."—Brisbane Mail.

Lawyer Got an Earful.

"And what time did the robbery take place?" asked the lawyer.

"I think—" began the witness.

"We don't care what you think," put in the attorney; "we want to know what you know."

"Then," rejoined the witness, "I might as well get down off the stand. I can't talk without thinking. I'm no lawyer."—Success.

Some Men Are Like That.

Mr. Fixit—Why did you snub Mr. Multirox? He went over to your table on purpose to speak to you.

Miss Goldie Miner—Gee! Was he the bird I snubbed? He was so polite I must have mistaken him for a waiter.

Already Settled.

Mother—If your husband won't give you a maid and finds fault with you for the way you wash the dishes, why don't you make him wash them himself?

Daughter—He does.

NOTHING DOING

Quoter—Drink to me only with thine eyes and I will pledge with mine.

Soft Drinks Dispenser—It won't do you no good to gimme the eye. We don't keep a drop of the hard stuff here.

Investigation.

Investigation often finds
A way to lend this life a charm.
It helps men to relieve their minds
And does nobody any harm.

The Usual.

"You and your wife have decided, then, to—"

"No. You got it wrong, Bill. My wife has decided. I have merely acquiesced."

A Neat Distinction.

The Visitor—Is Juggins, of your town, a good lawyer?

The Resident—He's an able lawyer, but he's not ranked high among the good.

Reason Quite Sufficient.

"You make life a burden to me," said the busy man to the persistent life insurance agent.

"In that case you can't take out this policy any too soon."

DANGEROUS

Bug—Heavens, here I've been smoking near a powder can.

The Lonely Pine.

Upon the azure wonder of the West
Is etched the figure of a lonely pine;
From its firm base in every stately line
It seems the spirit of grace made manifest.

Oh, the Times! Oh, the Manners!

Brown (getting on at way station—to friend)—Hello, John! Traveling alone?

Friend—No, indeed. Wife's in the smoking car. Sit down.

Got "Wise" in Time.

"Why did you break off with that girl?"

"Well, from the way she and her mother ran the old man, I judged they'd make short work of me."

The Exception.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever!" quoted the professor.

"Yes," chuckled the cynic, "unless you are married to her!"

Wise Little Fellah!

Customer to Waiter—A little bird told me that this coffee is old.

Waiter—What kind of a bird was it?

Customer—A swallow.

He—Yes, but not any more

"Leftovers in Living" That We All Collect

Among what a contributor to the Atlantic Monthly calls "Leftovers in Living," is "the collection of articles, or parts of articles, which gave the word 'miscellaneous' its name."

"You will find this collection," he writes, "in a drawer somewhere in the house. It has been years in the collecting. No human being has ever found a use for more than half of 1 per cent of the things in it. He never will. They are things too valuable to throw away—and of no use whatever to retain.

"Bits of old wire, a flatiron handle with a piece gone from one corner; a part of an imposing gaslight fixture; a once gorgeous pipe case which held a quaintly designed carved pipe, now broken; one end of a curtain rod; two padlocks, the keys of which are missing; a bit of what is supposed to be part of the good ship Cristobal Colon which came to an untimely end in the Spanish-American war; a souvenir showing how much art a penman could put on a bit of birch bark and dating back to the World's fair at Chicago; a china mug on which in old English is the sentimental phrase, 'To a Friend'; an eraser got up to resemble a bullet.

"To go on enumerating the articles in this collection would be a cataloguer's job. It is a staggering lot. Why such things are saved, nobody knows."

Relics Dug Up Prove China Had a Stone Age

Discoveries made in China by J. G. Anderson, a Swedish scientist, establish, in his belief, that China had a Stone age. At Fengtien the expedition headed by Professor Anderson excavated a cave about 8 by 18 feet. In it were found bones from about 40 human bodies and a large number of objects, none of which was of metal.

The objects included arrowheads, stone axes, bone awls, curious stone rings and a tiny piece of animal sculpture made of marble, fragments of remarkable vessels, some with pressed geometrical patterns and others with a polished red surface ornamented boldly in black. Professor Anderson dates the cave to the transition between the Stone age and the Bronze age, or about 2000-1500 B. C.

Large collections of remains also were found at Yang Shao, including specimens of red and black ceramic objects similar to those found at Fengtien. Heretofore leading experts on Chinese history have held that there was on evidence of a Stone age in China.

Dog's Value in Alaska

In Alaska, where the trackless wilderness and the gigantic snow fields are the general order for the greater part of the year, the principal means of conveyance is the snow sled which is drawn by the malemute, or the husky, as the Alaskan dog is commonly called, says the Detroit News.

Strong and apparently oblivious to the raging of the elements, those brave and hardy dogs are the pride of the Alaskans, who without them would be in even worse straits than we would be without railroads or automobiles. No matter how cold, these dogs are always ready and willing to obey their masters, and even after hundreds of miles of snow-covered waste have been traveled they are ever ready to be up and going at the beck of their two-legged companion, who is usually their friend as well as master

New Blasting Record

What is believed to have been the biggest blast ever set off in the history of industry was recently fired near Ogden, Utah, to provide material for constructing the fills that are the approaches to the Great Salt Lake trestle of the Southern Pacific railroad. Earth and rock to an estimated volume of 550,000 cubic yards was raised and shattered by the explosion, which used 301,200 pounds of special-process powder, equivalent to 600,000 pounds of black powder. A hill 275 feet high and covering a face of approximately 1,000 feet in length was lifted up and separated into fragments. The placing of the explosives in tunnels, aggregating 4,100 feet in length, occupied 25 men for 45 days.

Not to Be Caught Twice

The clergyman, absorbed in thinking out a sermon, rounded a turn in the path and bumped into a cow. He swept off his hat with a flourish, exclaiming: "I beg your pardon, madam."

Then he observed his error and was annoyed. Soon, however, again engaged with thoughts of the sermon, he collided with a woman at another bend of the path.

"Get out of the way, you brute!" he said.

Heartless

"Ah," she sighed, "I shall never hear his footsteps again; the step I have listened for with eager ears as he came through the garden gate, the step that has so often thrilled my heart as I heard it on the front porch. Never, never again!"

"Has he left you?" asked the sympathetic friend.

"No, he has taken to wearing rubber soles!"—Good Hardware.

Who Comes After Her?

Young Man—So Miss Ethel is your oldest sister? Who comes after her?

Small Boy—Nobody ain't me yet, but Pa says the first fellow comes can have her.—Everybody's Gazine

WITH THE FUNNY MEN

THE RIGHT ANSWER

A man who believed he knew all about parrots undertook to teach what he thought to be a young, mute bird to say "Hello!" in one lesson. Going up to the cage he repeated that word in a clear voice for several times, the parrot paying not the slightest attention.

At the final "Hello!" the bird opened one eye, gazed at the man, and snapped out:

"Line's busy."

THE SPONGE

"He's a regular sponge. I'll never get the ten he owes me now!"

"Can't squeeze it out of him, eh?"

Time.

From the cradle to the grave
We are debtors all;
We must make as well as save—
A moment is not too small.

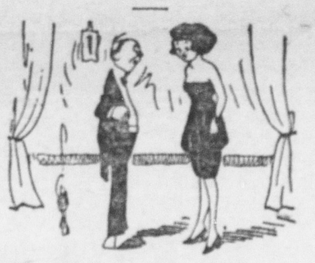
Poor Originals.

We can understand the average New Yorker's indifference to the theater if Gotham theater-goers are compelled to witness the performances of what, on the road, are advertised as "the original New York cast."—Buffalo Express.

DANGER



She—Why do you object to this costume?

He—The evening is chilly, and I'm afraid I'll get the cold shoulder.

Sour Grapes.

We cannot change our nature,
It is quite beyond our reach;
If a girl is born a lemon,
She cannot be a peach.

Deep Dilemma.

"Because he can't have a holiday."

"Why can't he have a holiday?"

"Because he doesn't go to school yet!"—Meggendorfer Blaetter (Munich).

No References Required.

"Before giving you a final answer," she said with a becoming blush, "I shall refer you to papa."

"But I am perfectly willing to take you without any reference," he said magnanimously.

Efficiency.

"What has become of that bad curve just outside of Plunkville?"

"The town did away with it."

"A good idea."

"Yes, it was cheaper to do that than to build a hospital."

MY! MY!

Rooster—Why are those eggs standing on end? Do you want to raise a family of acrobats?

An Old Story.

The old man is morose and mean;
The young man keeps his daughter up.
We have that old familiar scene,
An old dog growling at a pup.

The Longer the Higher.

"Yes, but she says it costs her more every year."

Or Both.

"What relation does a stork bear to mankind?"

"Either a son or daughter."

SOME SMILES

HOW IT IS DONE

"Suppose," queried the blurbist of a bit of new fiction, "you were facing bankruptcy. How would you tell your wife about it?'

Well, we should say, as we do about the first of every month: "Darling, I am facing bankruptcy." And she would say, in the customary patient tone of voice: "I'm sure I haven't been spending much money on the house."—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

CANNERY AT ROCKVIEW

Prisoners to Preserve Surplus Vegetables and Fruits.

A cannery will be built at Rockview to preserve fruits and vegetables for use not only there but in the penitentiaries in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

It is likely that a temporary structure will be erected to care for vegetables grown during the coming summer. Such articles as are preserved for Pittsburgh and Philadelphia will be chiefly the surplus over and above the requirements for the Rockview prisoners. None of the articles canned will be sold to private consumers.

The establishment of a canning factory will mark the third innovation at Rockview in recent months. A short time ago plans were announced for a tree nursery there. A part of a fifteen acre plot has been prepared for planting to raise young trees from seeds. The necessary transfers have been made of short term prisoners from the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia to assist in maintaining the nursery. Young trees raised on the grounds will be used for reforestation purposes.

The other innovation at the penitentiary is the plan to establish a concrete block manufacturing plant. The product from this factory will be used to build several dormatories on the grounds for housing prisoners on the cottage plan. Afterwards concrete tile used in highway construction will be manufactured there. This kind of work comes under the jurisdiction of the Prison Industries Board. Inmates there who perform these tasks are given the legal prison wages and also helped to learn trades. The product from plants thus established are restricted in sale so as not to compete with higher priced labor.

STUDENTS TO VISIT HERE

Twenty from University of Va. on Extended Inspection Trip.

Twenty students from the University of Virginia, at Morgantown, have arranged for an extended trip of inspection through the hard and soft coal regions of Pennsylvania. They will leave Morgantown on June 9. The itinerary includes Bellefonte, about June 17.

The greater part of the trip will be devoted to the hard coal fields.

Shaughnessy—Wilt.

Thomas Shaughnessy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaughnessy of East Howard Street, was married recently to Miss Marion Wilt, of Mill Hall. The bride was a school teacher, in Philadelphia, where the groom has for some years been associated with the Garman jewelry store. The young couple came to Bellefonte for Mother's Day, accompanied by the groom's sister, Miss Ann. Miss Helen Shaughnessy, of Wilkes-Barre, also spent the day at home, making the family circle complete. On their return to Philadelphia the party was accompanied by Mrs. Shaughnessy, of Bellefonte, who will spend a week with Tom and his wife.

Hugg—Wagner.

Great surprise was evidenced by the parents and friends of Walter Hugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Toner A. Hugg, of Milesburg, with the announcement of his marriage, about a month ago, to Miss Ruth Wagner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Wagner, of Reading. Walter, who is a graduate of the Bellefonte High School, has been playing for some time with the famous "Romans" orchestra, of Reading. This aggregation has played over the entire country and at present is playing at Princeton. From there they will tour the New England states, winding up at Montreal, Canada.

Whittaker—Ellington

The many Bellefonte friends of Miss Louise Whittaker, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be pleased to hear of her marriage, on April 28, in Pittsburgh, to Edward Ellington, of Chattanooga, Tenn. Miss Whittaker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whittaker, for many years valued residents of Bellefonte. At present the young couple are honeymooning at the groom's home in Tennessee. It is not known just where they expect to make their future home.

Musser—Mecivier.

Miss Ella Musser, a graduate of the Bellefonte High School, and well known here, was married in San Francisco, on March 28, to Joseph S. Mecivier, an automobile salesman, of that place. The bride is a granddaughter of the late 'Squire W. H. Musser. The young couple will reside in San Francisco.

Rearick—Aikey.
